

Are you a keen sports enthusiast who would like to experience sport at the highest level?

Seiko Timing Services, a division of Seiko UK Limited, are currently seeking Freelancers to join their busy and friendly team to help provide support at a range of sporting events each year, including the World Championships in London in 2017. If you have a keen interest in sport and would like to participate and develop your skills further, within a unique environment, this could be an ideal opportunity for you to be paid for the privilege!

We require assistance within a wide variety of roles, vital to ensuring the successful delivery of these events, including false start detection systems, electronic distance measurement devices, video distance measurement and transponder timing systems. Successful candidates will be exceptionally well organised with a good level of IT competency. Experience working on sporting events would be an advantage but not essential.

You will need to possess a flexible 'can do' approach to your work, and be willing and able to carry out what can be very physically demanding work, including a degree of manual lifting. Individual event assignments are subject to availability and can range between 5 days to 3 weeks.

If you are interested in applying for a limited availability place at our Open Day on Saturday 10 December please complete the attached form and email it to hr@seiko.co.uk by 25th November 2016. There is no better time to join a winning team.
